EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Maritime reporting was quiet this cycle. Treat that as a coverage gap rather than proof of calm at sea.

FAST FACTS

MAIN AFFECTED CHOKEPOINT (30D) Strait of Hormuz 192 records	VESSEL ATTACKS / SEIZURES (30D) 8	PIRACY / ARMED ROBBERY (30D) 1 Latest record in window: —

CHOKEPOINT / ROUTE READ

The 30-day picture is led by Strait of Hormuz, which carries 86 qualifying records and a highest severity of extreme. Gulf of Oman follows with 1 record.

Inside the weekly briefing window itself, no fresh transit-side advisories landed, so the cycle leans on the trailing 30-day picture for context.

Watch for new naval advisories on Strait of Hormuz, any war-risk premium adjustments and operator commentary on rerouting. Those are the early indicators of escalation; commercial freight rates lag them by days.

CHOKEPOINT	RECORDS	HIGHEST SEV	LATEST	OPERATIONAL READ
Strait of Hormuz	86	EXTREME	22 May 2026	Reporting was led by "Iran proposes permanent toll for Strait of Hormuz shipping", with 86 qualifying records over the last 30 days.

Arabian / Persian Gulf	1	LOW	04 May 2026	Activity here was anchored by a single entry, "Strait of Hormuz traffic drops to 14 ships, with most leaving Persian Gulf: CAS", over the last 30 days.
Red Sea	1	LOW	07 May 2026	Activity here was anchored by a single entry, "Drewry: Suez Canal Containership Crossings Recover", over the last 30 days.
Bab el-Mandeb	0	—	—	Quiet over the last 30 days; no qualifying activity on file.
Malacca Strait	0	—	—	Quiet over the last 30 days; no qualifying activity on file.

VESSEL THREAT AND PIRACY READ

Vessel-threat reporting over the last 30 days carries 8 qualifying events after dedupe, of which 8 are an attack or seizure rather than a softer boarding or approach. The lead entry is "UKMTO Reports Vessel Seized by Unauthorized Personnel Near Strait of Hormuz - News and Statistics - IndexBox". Piracy and armed-robbery reporting carries 1 record across the same window, with "Armed robbers board bulk carrier in Singapore Strait" as the lead entry.

Inside the weekly briefing cycle itself, no fresh vessel-side or piracy records were filed; the read leans on the trailing 30-day picture.

Track maritime advisories, naval-force statements and any movement in war-risk or P&I premiums on affected routes. Those are the cleanest early indicators that hostile activity is firming or easing.

COMMERCIAL IMPACT ON SHIPPING

No port, freight, insurance or commercial-shipping disruption records reached the file in the weekly window. Pure market commentary — newbuild orders, vessel S&P, fleet finance, earnings, share-price moves — is intentionally excluded from this section, so a blank cycle here means the operational disruption signal was genuinely quiet rather than under-reported.

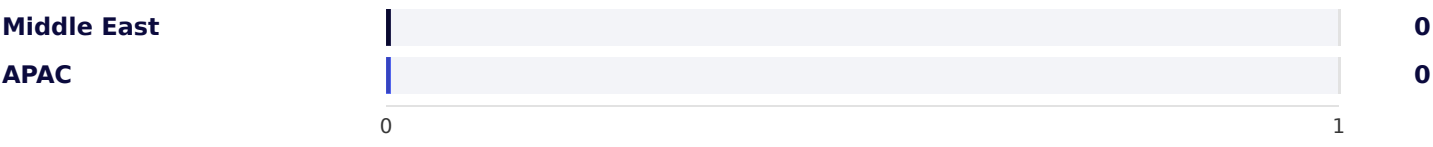

Watch for fresh port advisories, schedule slippage out of the major box and tanker hubs, and any insurance-premium adjustments tied to specific routes. Those are the next signals that operational commercial pressure is firming.

No port, freight, insurance or commercial-shipping disruption records in the weekly window.

REGIONAL AND COUNTRY VIEW

No qualifying maritime records reached the file across APAC and the Middle East in the weekly window. The underlying picture has not been benign for long, so a blank cycle should be treated as a reporting gap rather than a sustained easing of regional risk.

RECORDS BY REGION

RECORDS BY COUNTRY

No identified incident countries in window.

WHAT MATTERS

Underlying pressure on transit time, freight cost and war-risk premium remains, regardless of window count.

IMPLICATIONS FOR BUSINESS

- Re-walk routing options around affected chokepoints, port-call sequencing, bunker planning and war-risk premium exposure. Confirm crew-change and advisory triggers with operators.

WATCH NEXT

- Next cycle hinges on a handful of triggers: fresh port closures or strikes, naval movement near Hormuz, Bab-el-Mandeb or the Malacca approaches, new maritime advisories, and visible moves in war-risk premiums or freight indices.

No usable maritime signal landed in the window. Standing exposure to chokepoint, vessel and freight risk remains.
